Description
[HEXEN] monster respawn rate: Hexen respawns monsters in single player mode in a constant manner, which can get disturbing at times when you are severely exploring an area in search for a quest task (and start running out of ammo/health). If possible please add an console command (available in the game options menu as well?) that allows to control the monster respawning rate, where the rate should range from none to somewhere above the default respawn time, to add an optional challenge for hardcore gamers as well. Kind regards, deus-ex

This is not as straight forward as it would at first seem. In Hexen the rate of spawn is actually controlled via ACS scripts (unlike DOOM/Heretic).
